CARL WANDERER TO DIE FOR MURDER OF "RAGGED STRANGER"

After Deliberating Twelve Minutes Jury Reaches Verdict of Guilty

ALREADY UNDER SENTENCE FOR MURDER OF HIS WIFE

Hired Stranger to Fake Hold-up to Cover Murder

CHICAGO, Ill.—After escaping with the sentence of twenty-five years for the murder of his wife and an unborn child, Carl Wanderer was sentenced to death by a grand jury on Friday for the slaying of the "ragged stranger" he used as a dupe to cover up his other crime. The defense immediately moved for a new trial.

The verdict was reached after twelve minutes of deliberation, and Wanderer, when he heard it, betrayed no sign of emotion except to flush slightly. "I don't care what they do to me," he said as he left the court room. His defense had been insanity, and his attorneys asserted that this plea would be the basis of his appeal.

There were tears in the eyes of Ambrose E. Ambrose, foreman of the jury, as he heard the court clerk read the verdict. He refused to make any statement, but it was learned the jurors only took four ballots. They elected a foreman on the first, decided Wanderer was sane on the second, found him guilty on the third, and sentenced him on the fourth.

Jokes on Way to Doom

As the judge took the bench in the crowded court room he warned spectators to leave unless they were certain they could control their emotions.

Wanderer entered immediately after the jury. He took a seat directly behind Mrs. Irene Lefkow, his assistant counsel.

He had joked on the way from the jail, offering to bet on the verdict.

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty and the sentence is death," read the clerk.

Wanderer's Calm Broken

A photographer's flashlight flared Wanderer flushed, opened his mouth, then smiled. His right foot kept tapping on the floor, the only indication that his calm was disturbed.

He forced a laugh as he was taken back to the jail.

His remark in an interview shortly after this—"I hope my mother-in-law is satisfied"—referred to Mrs. Eugenia Johnson, mother of Mrs. Ruth Wanderer, the wife he slew. Mrs. Johnson had demanded a new trial when the first resulted in a verdict of twenty-five years for Wanderer.

"Have you anything further to say?" he was asked.

"Nothing," he snarled. "I'm satisfied if she is."

Mrs. Johnson was not in the court room. The prosecutor had asked her not to come.

"I can rest in peace now," she said, when reached at her home.

Sentenced For Killing Wife

Wanderer is now under sentence of twenty-five years for the murder of his wife at the same time the ragged stranger was shot.

The double murder took place last summer. Wanderer declared that when he came home from a picture show one night with his wife they met a man in the vestibule at the entrance to their home. The man opened fire, Wanderer said, and he fired back. The stranger and Wanderer's wife were killed.

Passed For Hero

For several days Wanderer was looked upon as a hero. The police, however, found that the stranger's gun belonged to Wanderer's cousin and that Wanderer had borrowed it a few days before the murders. Wanderer was arrested and signed a confession that he had hired the stranger whom he termed a "poor boob," to stage a mimic holdup and had killed his wife and the man.

In his first trial for the murder of his wife and her unborn baby, Wanderer repudiated this confession. He was found guilty and given a twenty-five year sentence, the jury announcing that it had compromised on the punishment.

The state immediately arranged for a second trial, the charge being murder of the dupe. The body of the man, for whose murder Wanderer on Friday was found guilty, still is in the county morgue, never having been identified.

Met in Saloon

Wanderer in the repudiated confession said he met the man in a saloon and that after a few drinks arranged the holdup, telling the stranger he could kill his wife but wanted to make it realistic by a mock robbery. He said he wanted to get rid of his wife so he could go back into the army where he had served overseas as a lieutenant.

The jury in the first trial deliberated several hours before reaching a verdict.

RAILROADS CHARGED WITH PLOT AGAINST UNIONS AT CHICAGO LABOR HEARING

Taking Advantage of Board's Lack of Power to Enforce Decrees to Attempt to Influence Public Opinion is Claim of Labor Attorney

CHICAGO, Ill.—Charges that the railroads, knowing the railroad labor board had no power to enforce its decrees, were trying to smash the labor unions through public opinion and were attempting to influence public opinion through false paid publicity, were made before the board Friday by Frank Walsh, attorney for the unions, in his cross-questioning of railroad officials.

Mr. Walsh also charged that the Pennsylvania and the New York Central railroads dominated the policies of other roads in opposition to the national agreements with labor unions.

Mr. Walsh renewed his investigation of railroad publicity despite objections from Judge R. M. Barton, chairman of the board, that the matter was irrelevant. He called T. De Witt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railroad Executives to the stand and resumed questioning along the line which yesterday brought statements from Mr. Cuyler that publicity articles supposedly written by Mr. Cuyler really were written by Ivy Lee, a press agent.

Employed Experts?

"Wasn't Mr. Lee appointed press agent of the Association of Railroad Executives because he is an expert at breaking down unions?" Mr. Walsh asked.

"No," replied Mr. Cuyler.

"Do you recall the mine publicity in 1914-15 gotten out by Mr. Lee?" asked Mr. Walsh.

"I recall that he was connected with the Rockefeller Foundation," was the answer.

"Well, Mr. Lee at that time published false figures in connection with salaries of union officials—" began Mr. Walsh when Judge Barton interrupted:

"Don't you realize this matter is entirely outside the matters to come before the board?" he asked.

Seek to Sway Public

"I think if you will allow me to continue, I'll prove my point," said Mr. Walsh. "With the case partly tried, the railroads hire a publicity expert to help out. This board has no power to enforce its decree. The roads know this, and try through this paid publicity to influence public opinion."

"You're entirely outside the matters," Judge Barton answered. "You've heard the opinion of the chair."

Despite Judge Barton's objections, Mr. Walsh continued reading publicity matter and questioning Mr. Cuyler concerning it.

Confer With Workers

CHICAGO, Ill.—The Chicago & Northwestern railroad today announced that it had conferred with representatives of its ten thousand unskilled employes yesterday in regard to wage reductions and that another conference would be held next week. The road proposed a reduction in proportion to the decrease in the cost of living and the rates paid for unskilled labor in other industries in the different localities. The amount of reduction would vary in different sections.

LABOR FEDERATION AT DETROIT REITERATES SUPPORT OF SOVIET

Has Better Mandate from People than Any Other Government is Claim

GOMPERS IS SCORED FOR CRITICISING DETROIT ACTION

Federation Advocates Recognition of Soviet Regime

DETROIT, Mich. — Imputation of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor that leaders of the Detroit Federation are receiving or should receive compensation from the Russian soviet government because of their advocacy of recognition of that government, comes with bad grace and is unworthy of reply, the local organization informed Mr. Gompers in a letter made public Saturday.

The letter, in reply to one in which Gompers accused Detroit union leaders of being "servants of the soviet government," defends the Russian government and renews the recommendation that it be accorded recognition.

"The soviet government," it asserts, "possesses a better mandate from the Russian people than does any other government on the face of the earth."

Mr. Gompers' statement that the Russian government has nothing of value to export, is declared at variance with general information from apparently reliable sources. Resumption of trade with Russia, the letter adds would in some measure temporarily relieve the suffering American workers are now forced to endure because of the unemployment situation."

Lack of organization among workers here which Mr. Gompers charged to the local federation, is explained by the statement that the Detroit body has opposed to it the largest and best organized "open shop" employers association in the United States. The fact that Michigan is known as the "graveyard of organizers" is cited as proof that the condition is not due to lack of effort on the part of the Detroit federation leaders.

JAPAN TO INSIST ON RIGHTS UNDER THE YAP MANDATE

Nation Will Not Yield Foreign Minister Tells Budget Committee

TOKIO.—By The Associated Press.—Japan will stand firmly on her mandate over the Island of Yap, in the South Pacific, Viscount Uchida, the foreign minister, told the budget committee of the diet Friday in reply to a question by Representative Uehara. The latter asked whether the attitude of Great Britain and the council of the league of nations, and that of the United States regarding Yap, did not affect Japan's interests, and also whether Japan intended to insist on her rights under the Yap mandate.

Representative Uehara said anti-Japanese agitation in the United States was spreading to other states besides California. He also charged John F. Stevens of Chicago, head of the American Railway Mission in Siberia, with carrying on an anti-Japanese movement as a result of the clashing of his views with those of the Japanese army in Siberia.

Viscount Uchida replied that he knew nothing about the allegations against Mr. Stevens, but said the government was adopting every possible means to prevent the passage of laws similar to those adopted in California.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HOSE CART CRASHES INTO PLATE WINDOW

Front of Hegge Market Demolished as Hose Wagon Swings to Avoid Collision

NO INJURIES REPORTED AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Wagon and Auto Meet at Rose and St. Cloud Streets

CALLED out for the same fire that No. 4 station equipment at the time was attending, the hose cart of No. 2 fire station on the north side met with an accident Friday afternoon when the horses drawing the wagon jumped into the plate glass window of the Hegge market, 732 Rose street, in an attempt to avert a collision with an automobile driven by Otto Loeffler at the intersection of Rose and St. Cloud streets.

The Liberty street station had been informed of the grass fire at the east end of Gillette street by telephone and had already left the station. In the meantime, according to the report, a box had been "pulled" for the same fire causing No. 2 station to move up. It was on this run that the accident happened.

Occurs at Rose and St. Cloud

The hose wagon at the time was crossing Rose street moving eastward, while the auto was traveling south on Rose street. To avert the impending collision with the automobile, the driver of the fire department vehicle swung to the right and before the horses could be checked the momentum of the heavy wagon threw the team into the window, causing considerable damage to the woodwork and a stock of apples on display in the window.

No injuries as a result of the accident were reported.

Seeing the fire department vehicle on the corner, hundreds of people flocked to the scene to witness the "fire." However their apparent desire for some excitement was somewhat abated after looking over the accident.

Over $200 Damage

Although the exact amount of the damage has not yet been estimated, it was said that an expenditure of from $150 to $200 would be necessary to replace the plate glass window. The pole of the wagon was said to have broken into a partition within the building. The horses escaped without a cut, according to a report of the department today.

GRAND JURY GETS UNDER WAY WITH A BIG CALENDAR

Session of United States Court Starts at Superior With Wolfe on Ground

A grand jury in United States district court got under way at Superior this week, Between 200 and 300 witnesses have been summoned to appear before it.

John M. McCabe, known as a "double" of ex-President Wilson, was named foreman of the grand jury by Judge Samuel Alschuler of the circuit court of appeals, who presided at the opening of the court session. McCabe has been prominent in civic and church affairs in Superior and north Wisconsin, having been knighted recently by Pope Benedict.

Of the 21 men named on the grand jury, 17 are Superiorites. Marshal P. W. O. Connor summoned men from all over the district, but they failed to appear. The judge gave the marshal three hours to scare up 15 additional men for grand jury duty, and he brought into court most of the restaurant and cigar store proprietors on Tower av., on which the federal building in Superior is located.

It is understood that liquor cases will not be presented to the grand jury until next week.

Dist. Atty. A. C. Wolfe and his assistants are on hand to present cases to the grand jury.

Several La Crosse witnesses have been summoned to appear before the grand jury at Superior.

WESTBY TRIO GETS FINED FOR STAGING "MOON" PARTY HERE

It cost three residents of Westby, Well Olson, O. J. Johnson and Ingwald Galstad, seven dollars and a half each in police court Saturday morning for an argument at the Beaumont Hotel while in an intoxicated condition. The trio were escorted to the "hoosgow" following a call from the hotel to central station Friday evening.

Johnson had evidently "put on the party," he being the only member of the trio in possession of inazuma and "hootch." On being searched he was found to have some over thirty dollars and two pints of moonshine liquor, according to the report of the police.

OCCUPATION FORCES ADVANCE TO WITHIN FEW MILES OF ESSEN

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The occupation of the Mulheim and Speldorf railway stations in the Ruhr district of Germany by French troops was simply a further step in the plan adopted by the London reparations conference, it was explained in official circles today.

The stations command the approaches to the Rhine and their possession was necessary to make the allied occupation effective, it was added. The French advance brings the occupied zone to within a few miles of Essen.

"B. L. T.", FAMOUS COLUMN CONDUCTOR, DIES SATURDAY AFTER TWO WEEKS' ILLNESS

CHICAGO, Ill.—Bert Leston Taylor, noted humorist and conductor of the column in the Chicago Tribune, "A Line O'Type or Two," died of pneumonia at his home here early Saturday, after an illness of two weeks.

Bronchial trouble from which he had suffered for several weeks took a serious turn and he had gradually grown worse for the last few days.

The widow and two daughters survive. He was born in Goshen, Mass., in 1866, and received his early newspaper training on a paper in Plainsfield, N. H. In 1886 he came west to edit the Duluth, Minn., News-Tribune, where he remained for three years, coming to Chicago in 1889 and working on the Chicago Journal and remained for two years when his bent for the humoristic side of journalism led him to start the column for which he became famous in the Chicago Tribune as "B. L. T."

In 1903 he left his "Line o' Type" column and the Tribune to contribute for several years to Puck, the New York Sun and other publications in New York. In 1909 he returned to the Tribune and resumed his famed column and continued it until a few days before his death.

Among his better known writings are "The Well In The Woods," "The Pipe Smoke Carry," "The Charlatans," "Motley Measures," and "A Line o' Verse or Two."

The mail received every day by Mr. Taylor was voluminous. Thousands of people admired his humorisms, and the struggle among them to "make the line" with their witticisms had become a daily practice.

BALMY SUMMER DAY ONE OF BEST IN HISTORY

California has nothing on La Crosse.

Weather Observer Thompson reported this afternoon that with the thermometer at the weather bureau registering 76, La Crosse today enjoyed the warmest day in March since 1902.

Only twice in 49 years has there been a warmer day in March here. On March 17, 1894 the thermometer registered 78, and on the 23rd in 1902 the maximum temperature was 83.

DECKER CONFESSES HE STRUCK BLOW WHICH CAUSED CHUM'S DEATH

Denies He Changed Clothes With Dead Boy so Brother Could Collect Insurance

WARSAW, Ind.—Officials of Kosciusko county Saturday continued their efforts to draw from Virgil Decker, 19-year-old farmer boy at Atwood, the reasons for the attack on his chum, Leroy Lovett of Elkhart, Ind. which led to the latter's death. Earlier Decker confessed he had struck his chum on the head with an iron bar in a cottage on the Tippecanoe river near here while Lovett was asleep and several hours later returned to the cottage with a horse and buggy, taking Lovett's unconscious form to a nearby railroad crossing where it was struck by a train.

"The devil drove me to it" Decker told Sheriff Moon, after signing his confession and would add no other explanation.

He denied that his transfer of his own clothing to Lovett's body had been part of a plan to collect insurance totalling nearly $10,000 and payable to Fred Decker, his brother, in event of the death by accident of Virgil Decker.

In his confession Decker said that about 10 a. m. on March 12 last he and Lovett arrived at the cottage and shortly lay down to sleep. Later he awoke, his confession said, and "the piece of iron you have just shown me is the piece which I used to strike Leroy on the head."

Thinking him dead Decker said he went to the home of his brother and returned about six p. m. He said he found Lovett on the floor leaning against the wall, and he lifted him, led him out of the cottage door and helped him into the buggy.

Then he drove across the railroad crossing nearby trying to make up his mind to leave Lovett on the crossing.

"Finally I saw a train coming from the east," he confessed, "and drove down on the railroad track, unhitched the horse, leaving the buggy with Leroy lying in the seat on the track, and I ran down the road south in the direction the horse went."

Lovett died later from the injuries which it was at first believed he sustained only in the railroad crossing accident.

"The reason I placed my suit of overalls and shoes on Leroy was that I thought when the train struck the buggy Leroy would be cut so bad he could not be identified and some of my clothes would be found on him and they would think it was me and I would have a change to get away."

FIRES AT RICHTER RESIDENCE AND GUND PLANT ON SATURDAY

A fire in a grain bin, causing little damage, occurred at the plant of the Gund Brewing company at 5:45 Saturday morning. With the bin located directly over the engine room at the plant, the fire was said to have been caused from the boilers. Little damage was reported after the fire.

The department was called to the residence of E. Riebter, 231 South Twenty-first street about 10:30 Saturday morning, when a fire said to have been caused from a spark from the stove started flames in a sofa. Slight damage was also done to the woodwork near the couch, according to the statement at Central station.

SIMPSON RESIGNS HIS POST AS DRY CHIEF OF DISTRICT

Man Who Directs Raids and Arrests of Volstead Act Violators to Quit Soon

WORKING FORCE IS REDUCED BY ORDERS FROM WASHINGTON

Changes in Regulations May Have Prompted Resignation

J. Allen Simpson chief of the prohibition agents in the Western district of Wisconsin, who has directed all the raids and arrests in this territory since the Volstead act went into effect and who became well known here during the recent session of United States court, has resigned, effective as soon after April 1 as his successor can be named.

That the changes in regulations reducing the size of the prohibition enforcement staff and transferring the jurisdiction of the work from the treasury department to the department of justice, has something to do with Mr. Simpson's resignation, is the belief of close friends here.

It also became known here today that Agent Jacobek, one of Simpson's best known workers, is a candidate for the position to be vacated by Captain Simpson.

Frank D. Richardson, chief prohibition agent for the central division of the United States, has resigned effective April 1, according to Mr. Simpson, who has returned from a conference with Richardson in Chicago.

The federal prohibition enforcement service for the central division has been cut one fourth. Simpson, who desired more men for western Wisconsin, including the "new Kentucky" region in the northern part of the state, found his force cut to four men.

"There has been no order transferring prohibition enforcement from the treasury department to the department of justice," said Mr. Simpson. "It is understood that there is talk of such a change at Washington."

One fourth of the dry agents in the central division of the United States are being asked to resign. Four of Mr. Simpson's agents are being done away with.

It is understood that the proposed transfer to the department of justice arises out of opposition of drys to Secretary Mellon of the treasury department, who in the past has been interested in distillery property.

Congress will have to modify the Volstead act in order to make a change between the two departments.

The shakeup announced to the federal prohibition agents at Chicago Tuesday is the greatest in the history of the service, according to Simpson.

The cutover land district of northern Wisconsin, which until the recent march on Hurley was a moonshiner's paradise, may blossom again this summer unless the government decides to place more men in the field it is believed here.

BURKE RESOLUTION SCORES USURPATION OF STATE'S RIGHTS

Senate Advances Plan for Constitutional Amendment to Guarantee Rights of the States

ROUTINE BUSINESS OCCUPIES ATTENTION OF LEGISLATURE

Little More than Quorum Present for Saturday Session

MADISON, Wis.—The senate sent the Burke resolution requesting congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing a constitutional amendment guaranteeing state rights, to third reading without opposition this morning. Gradual encroachment of the federal government on the fundamental rights originally reserved to the individual states, is scored in the measure.

Declaration is made that the national government "is destroying the self-governing rights of the people of the several states, and striking at the foundation of the fundamental principles on which the republic was established."

The upper house also advanced the Huber bill regulating sweat-shop labor by sending it to third reading. Senator Huber's proposal provides drastic restriction on the conditions under which work may be done in homes, and establishes strict regulation by the industrial commision.

Neither house had important business on its Saturday calendar, and with scarcely a quorum present passed rapidly through the lengthy calendars filled with routine measures.

The assembly passed the Killian bill prohibiting advertising in newspapers for labor of children for whom labor permits are required, by a vote of 51 to 7. It also passed the Gamper bill requiring that town members on the county board of supervisors be elected each year instead of every three years. The city and village representatives would continue to hold their three-year term.

WOMEN'S PARTY TO LAUNCH FEMINIST PROGRAM IN APRIL

Seek Action by Congress to Remove all Sex Discrimination

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The new women's national party will inaugurate its "feminist campaign" on April 6, it was announced Saturday, by personally appealing to President Harding to give the support of his administration to a blanket-bill removing "all sex discriminations in law that congress has the power to deal with." He also will be asked to endorse a movement to have state laws modified where they exist to the discrimination of women.

The bill, proposed for passage by congress would make citizenship for women independent of the nationality of their husbands and remove discriminations against women in the civil service laws and those of the district of Columbia. It will be a model for bills to be introduced in the various state legislatures.

MILL CITY EXPLOSION MYSTERY TO POLICE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Police early Saturday were searching for the source and cause of a mysterious explosion which rocked a number of down town buildings late Friday night.

The investigation narrowed down to the vicinity of a warehouse in which a large quantity of whiskey is stored. Police were working on the theory that an effort to enter the warehouse was foiled through premature discharge of a bomb or other explosive.

PRESBYTERIAN

First Presbyterian church, Sixth and King streets. Claude R. Shaver, minister.

Morning worship at 10:35 will recognize Palm Sunday in a discussion of the "Inauguration Text" of President Harding, this being the portion of scripture which the president-elect chose to designate by the touch of his lips after taking the oath of office on March 4th. It is Micah 6:8 and is a "practical Christian confession" appropriate for the twentieth century.

Our evening worship at 7:30 is under the auspices of the Young People's society in joint session with other Christian Endeavor organizations of the city. Miss Bessie B. Ebert of the Western District Christian Endeavor association is the speaker. Old and young are invited to share this evening hour under this unusual auspices.

Bible schools meet in the church at 9:45 a. m. with Martin Stennerson, superintendent main school, and Mrs. F. H. Seofield, primary. Grace chapel school meets at 2:30 p. m. in charge of Mrs. E. Cronon.

We unite with other churches of the federation in the union Good Friday service at First Congregational church, from 12 m. to 3 p. m. on Friday.

Our Wednesday night meeting will be held at eight o'clock and will be "Foregleams of Easter." The annual Good Friday praise service as observed by the Mothers' circle will be held in the parlors on Friday at 3:30 p. m. the 25th. All these sessions are open to the public.

Young People's society will meet in the lecture room as usual at 6:30 Sunday evening.

* * * *

North Presbyterian church, Avon and Logan streets, Malcolm O. Magnuson, minister.

Sabbath school at 9:45 a. m. We are looking for a few new workers in our school. Will you, who read this, and not connected elsewhere, respond to this call?

Morning worship at 11. As this is Palm Sunday the pastor will choose a subject appropriate to the occasion. While the waving of palms and tumultuous burst of applause were only temporary, there were hearts that permanently attached to the Savior; witness the three friends at Bethany, namely, Mary, Martha and Lazarus. The scripture John 12:1-16 includes both the incident of Mary's devoted expression of love and the temporary outburst of enthusiasm of the crowd. Let us see and study both phases and draw some very pertinent lessons.

FIVE STEPS LEADING TO SALVATION ARE SHOWN BY HARKNESS

Minister at Revival at First Methodist Church Shows Road to Creator

The Rev. A. M. Harkness who is conducting the revival services at the First Methodist church on Thursday night pointed out "The Five Steps to Salvation," in his evening sermon. He said in part:

"'Therefore, leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection, not laying again the foundation.'

"This is a day of marked progress. A day in which in every line of business, in every walk of life, men are going on to perfection. We are moving at a rapid rate, seeking to bring about the greater principle of perfectness. In whatever undertaking we are working at. The student, the man of business, the educator, men everywhere, are seeking to come up to the highest and best standards. I think we can say this is our motto in conducting these meetings, that we want to be a help to men in whatever walk of life they may be, to bring themselves to perfect efficiency. I desire to help every professing Christian, to be a praying, Bible reading, soul winning Christian. I also desire to make the plan of salvation so clear, so plain, that every unsaved person, may find Christ as their Savior.

"Sometimes we are brought face to face with the question as to whether we should be true to Christ, or cater to the whims and fancies of those who are about, and while I desire the friendship and the fellowship of men all else as any man, I desire above as much as any man, I desire above Christ, and present the gospel plan of salvation as God gives it to us, and not as men may think or hope that it might be.

"There are some matters that have been sadly misunderstood and very much abused, relative to the great way of salvation, and on this evening I would try to make these various important steps that must be taken if we come to Christ for salvation, so clear and so plain, that no one can misunderstand them.

Conviction Held Not Enough

"It is a good sign when men get under conviction, but conviction is not enough. Conviction can never save a man. Sometimes men get ugly during a meeting, angry because they are under conviction, and sometimes men even oppose meetings of this kind, and yet before the meetings will have closed, some of those very men will have offered their lives to Christ, and become the very best of workers. Conviction is God's part.

"This is just my business tonight, to tell you people to turn about. People who are going away from God, and yet perhaps do not know that they are going away — think they are going in the right direction, and this is the purpose of this meeting, for us to put on a strenuous effort in which men shall be convicted of the fact that they are wrong. I don't believe there are very many people these days, who have not in some way or other been convicted, that they ought to be Christians. They are waiting perhaps for some great manifestation they are thinking perhaps of Saul of Tarsus, but God is not going to use on us the ammunition that he used on Saul. 'Except ye be converted, you cannot enter the kingdom of heaven.' It is our business after God has convinced us that we are wrong, to turn around and go in the right way. Jesus said, 'I am the way, the truth, the life, no man cometh unto the Father but by me.' We may be traveling away from God and Christ, and we may be perfectly secure in our hopes and in our desires, that we will come out all right in the end, but I do not know how by any radical reasoning we can imagine that by going constantly in the wrong direction, we shall ever obtain to the objective that we desire.

Regeneration

"Now just before we take up the third step, let us go back again. The first step was God's part, man had nothing to do with it. The second part God had nothing to do with, but was altogether man's part. Now I want you to notice that there are five important steps. First, conviction, God's part; Second, conversion, man's part; Third, regeneration, God's part. Fourth, consecration, man's part. Fifth, sanctification, God's part. Now I want briefly to take up these five important steps. They are the steps that one by one are to lead us on unto perfection in Jesus Christ. Three of these are God's part, two are man's part. God has nothing to do with man's part, and man has nothing to do with God's part. God is very faithful and he does his part first, and man must then do his part. Regeneration is God's part. God's alone. In Titus 3:5, it says, 'Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but by washing of regeneration he saved us.' A man may think he can regenerate himself, and many men try it. They go to work and lop off some sheep will power say that they are going to do thus and so, but no man can regenerate himself.

Consecration

"Romans 12:1, 'I beseech you therefore, brother, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, wholly acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.'

"Consecration, literally means getting on God's altar. In olden times when men brought the sacrifice, the first of their flock, or their fruits to lay upon the altar, they understood that this was something they should do. Today, instead of bringing a lamb, we bring ourselves — this is man's part. I tremble when I come to this place, for fear I shall not be able to make it plain to you, for oh, so many people have been converted and regenerated but here we stop. There are two more steps to take, and these last two steps are where scores of church members have stopped. Conversion is not enough. Even with the regeneration, the new life that God pours into our soul, the thing that God wants us to do tonight, is to consecrate ourselves. Put our life fully into the service of God, to be used for him. Oh I think we have played at being Christians long enough. If we were honest before God tonight we could testify that ten, fifteen and twenty years we have been enlisted in the service of God and yet we have not made any marked progress for the kingdom of God. Is it not that we have simply balked at the matter of consecration?

Sanctification

"If Timothy 2:21, 'If a man therefor purge himself from these things, he shall be a vessel unto honor, sanctified unto the master's use.' Consecration was man's part, sanctification is God's part. Man has nothing to do with sanctification. Sanctification means 'setting apart for service.'

"Now I know that even in some Methodist churches, I must speak ardently on this word sanctification. A number of times in my ministry I have been cautioned on saying very much on sanctification, for sometimes we will hear it said that some former pastor, or some evangelist, or some one else has been a crank on sanctification, until the very term sanctification was noxious to the people. The trouble was that they were putting sanctification at the wrong end, trying to get people sanctified who had never been converted, regenerated, or consecrated. When a man has been converted and then consecrated his life to God, God will take care of the sanctification. I think perhaps this term sanctification has been more abused and misunderstood than any other term in all the scriptures. I don't care to quibble on what you may call it, a second blessing or whatever you may please, but I do know that God after we have consecrated ourselves to his service, will sanctify us."

VICTORY FOR RAIL WORKERS INDICATED IN ASSEMBLY VOTE

MADISON, Wis.—Railroad trainmen won a victory in the assembly on Friday when the house refused to kill the Frank Hanson bill for full engine crew outside of railroad yards and sent the bill to engrossment by a vote of sixty-eight to eight.

This bill provides that there must be a full crew on all light engine movements outside of yard limits. The bill had the endorsement of the four brotherhoods. It was unfavorably recommended by the house committee on labor.

WESTERNERS ASK AN IMMEDIATE EMBARGO ON FARM PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON—President Harding has under advisement an appeal from western senators and representatives that he place an immediate embargo on the importation of a number of farm commodities, including wool, hides, meats and butter, represented as most keenly affected by foreign competition. When the request was made in conference late yesterday, President Harding, after being told that many producers in these lines faced ruin unless relief was forthcoming, indicated that he desired to confer with certain members of his cabinet before acting on the appeal.

EXHORT ONE ANOTHER

EXHORT one another daily, while it is called today, lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.—Hebrews 3: 13.

Equal Pay Envelopes

THOMAS W. LAMONT, one of the group of "Morgan financiers," points to the uneven distribution of taxes. He says that, for 1917 incomes, only one and one-half per cent of the population paid taxes. The other 98½ per cent dodged the tax; including the children, the poor, the non-taxables, and those who should have, but didn't pay.

Not evenly distributed, is it?

But the distribution among the fortunate, or shall we say, the tax-unfortunate—is still more uneven.

About ninety-eight per cent of this one and one-half per cent, according to Lamont, paid 26½ per cent of the total individual income taxes, while the balance—only two per cent—paid 73½ per cent of the taxes.

Three ten-thousandths of the population paid almost three-fourths of the income tax.

Lamont insists there should be a more even distribution of the cost of government.

* * * *

But, on the other hand, a student of economics points out that the fault really lies in the uneven distribution of income. He, too, agrees that the few pay too much taxes. But he has a remedy entirely different from the one suggested by Lamont. He would even up the distribution of incomes, which, he asserts, would even up the distribution of income taxes.

* * * *

Last fall several small boys came upon the nutting season. Some of the more enterprising finished the season with large collections of walnuts. Others had fewer; some had none.

Some of the boys hiked out to the woods every Saturday, staid long and worked hard, hauling back the day's returns. Others spent more Saturdays at football, flying kites, and attending movies. Some didn't work as hard climbing trees, nor carrying home filled bags. Some were stronger than others. Some were better climbers. Some went at the job more intelligently. And some few took advantage of their superior trading abilities, even to the point of sharp dealing, to acquire more walnuts than they had knocked off the trees. But the point is, they got them.

And the boys who went to football games and the movies didn't get them. Nor did the boys who thought it too hard to climb trees all day, and carry heavy loads.

* * * *

Now then, would it have been right to have divided the walnuts at the close of the season so that each boy had an even share?

Would that have encouraged nutting parties next October?

* * * *

Suppose there had been a tax on walnuts, ten per cent for example.

The boys who collected the most would have paid the largest tax.

And those who got no walnuts would have escaped taxation, eh?

Would that have encouraged nutting expeditions in the future?

* * * *

Still, you must admit, it is difficult to collect walnuts from a boy who hasn't any; just as hard as it is to collect a money tax from the moneyless.

The solution lies in inspiring each boy with the same ambition to collect walnuts, to work as hard, to work as long, and as intelligently. However, the element of varying fitness and ability can never be evened up.

Right End To

THE New York Central and the New Haven have brought the railroad wage question into court right end to by filing petitions for wage reductions with the railway labor board, and preparing to submit their evidence of the necessity for the cut to that tribunal for decision. Previous efforts to cut wages on the railroads have been beaten by the men largely owing to the fact that the roads attempted short-cuts across the law, endeavoring to ignore the plain provision of the Esch-Cummins act that all such changes must be made by certain orderly processes, beginning with consultation of the employes and ending with the adjudication of the railway wage board as a last resort. The merits of the claims that reductions were necessary have not yet been decided, so that the New York Central and New Haven cases will be test cases of nation-wide importance. The general trend of wages everywhere, under pressure of unemployment, is downward, but that is not in itself sufficient to indicate a probability that the findings of the railway labor board will approve the proposed reduction. Under the terms of the law it is not the showing of financial necessity on the part of the railroads which rules, but the question whether the proposed wages will be "just and reasonable". Manifestly this opens up a wide field of debate, involving the cost of living, the efficiency of railroad operation, and other important questions.

More Liberal

ATTORNEY GENERAL DAUGHERTY has been asked by President Harding to review the case of Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader now serving a long term in Atlanta penitentiary under the espionage act. Apparently the request was made by the executive with a view to exercising clemency in case the facts will warrant it, since unless there were some such object there could be no purpose in looking into the matter. No doubt the country generally, barring a few vindictive opponents of everything that Debs stands for, will generally approve the move. It will not be forgotten that even such a hard-shelled reactionary as Palmer, attorney general in the Wilson cabinet and himself the inspiration of the harsh enforcement of the espionage act on occasion, a few months since recommended Debs for pardon to the president. Many friends of Woodrow Wilson were disappointed at his refusal to accept Palmer's advice in the matter, and it is cause for congratulation that Mr. Harding seems disposed to be more liberal. Eugene Debs' radical views brought him to imprisonment, we believe, with justice so long as the country was in a state of war and opposition to its war measures constituted a peril to the purposes of the majority of citizens. But with the end of the war the peril ceased, and the continued incarceration of the old enthusiast seems more like vengeance than justice. The espionage act is no longer in force, and there can be no comfort to a land of liberty and free speech in continuing the imprisonment of men convicted under it, even if the majority of us heartily disagree with the advice for the offering of which they are behind bars. Political imprisonment is repugnant to American tradition, and is only to be tolerated in genuine emergencies.

Tilling the Soil

COMPETITION for individual prestige and advancement is less keen in agriculture than in other industries. The net balance is the only fair way to compare.

Few activities offer as great opportunity for personal development as does agriculture. The successful farmer is independent, versatile, self-reliant, adaptable; he must be a naturalist and a business man. Agriculture offers opportunities for the soils expert; the plant doctor, health expert and specialists in pruning, spraying, forestry, farm machinery, recreation and markets.

Local fishermen are bitter in their arraignment of the work of local game wardens, claiming that hundreds of fish smothered in sloughs this winter. Since the ice left the river dead fish have been floating down. Ice freezing over sloughs and cutting off the air is the reason assigned by fishermen who maintain it is the warden's duty to chop holes in the ice.

A Man For the Ages

BY

Irving Bacheller

(Copyright 1919 by Irving Bacheller)

"I often think of that ride down the river and the way he talked to me. It was so gentle. He was a big, powerful giant of a man who weighed over two hundred pounds, all of it bone and muscle. But under his great strength was a woman's gentleness; under the dirty, ragged clothes and the rough, brown skin grimy with dust and perspiration, was one of the cleanest souls that ever came to this world. I don't mean that he was like a minister. He could tell a story with pretty rough talk in it but always for a purpose. He hated dirt on the hands or on the tongue. If another man had a trouble Abe took hold of it with him. He would put a lame man's pack on top of his own and carry it. He loved flowers like a woman. He loved to look at the stars at night and the colors of the sunset and the morning dew on the meadows. I never saw a man so much in love with fun and beauty."

They reached Havana that evening and sold their canoe to a man who kept boats to rent on the river shore. They ate a hot supper at the tavern and got a ride with a farmer who was going 10 miles in their direction. From his cabin some two hours later they set out afoot in the darkness.

"I reckon it will be easier under the stars than under the hot sun," said Abe. "Our legs have had a long rest anyhow."

They enjoyed the coolness and beauty of the summer night.

"Going home is the end of all journeys," said Abe as they tramped along. "Did it ever occur to you that every living creature has its home? The fish of the sea, the birds of the air, the beasts of the field and forest, the creepers in the grass, all go home. Most of them turn toward it when the day wanes. The call of home is the one voice heard and respected all the way down the line of life. And, ye know, the most wonderful and mysterious thing in nature is the power that fool animals have to go home through the great distances, like the turtle that swam from the Bay of Biscay to his home off Van Dieman's Land. Somehow coming over in a ship he had blazed a trail through the pathless deep more than ten thousand miles long. It's the one miraculous gift—the one call that's irresistible. Don't you hear it now? I never lie down in the darkness without thinking of home when I am away."

"And it's hard to change your home when you're wanted to it," said Harry.

"Yes, it's a little like dying when you pull up the roots and move. It's been hard on your folks."

This remark brought them up to the greatest of mysteries. They tramped in silence for a moment. Abe broke in upon it with these words:

"I reckon there must be another home somewhere to go after we have broke the last camp here and a kind of a bird's compass to help us find it. I reckon we'll hear the call of it as we grow older."

He stopped and took off his hat and looked up at the stars and added:

"If it isn't so I don't see why the long procession of life keeps harping on this subject of home. I think I see the point of the whole thing. 'It isn't the place or the furniture that makes it home, but the love and peace that's in it. By and by our home isn't here any more. It has moved. Our minds begin to beat about in the undiscovered countries looking for it. Somehow we get it located—each man for himself."

For another space they hurried along without speaking.

"I tell you, Harry, whatever a large number of intelligent folks have agreed upon for some generations is so—if they have been allowed to do their own thinking," said Abe. "It's about the only wisdom there is."

He had sounded the keynote of the new democracy.

"There are some who think that reason is the only guide but in the one problem of going home it don't compare with the turtle's wisdom," Abe added. "His head isn't bigger than a small apple. But I reckon the scientist can't teach him anything about navigation. Reminds me o' Steve Nuckles. His head is full of ignorance but he'll know how to get home when the tide comes."

"My stars! How we're hurrying!" Harry exclaimed at length.

"I didn't realize it—I'm so taken up with the thought of getting back," said Abe. "It's as if my friends had a rope around me and were pulling it."

So under the lights of heaven, speaking in the silence of the night, of impenetrable mysteries, they journeyed on toward the land of plenty.

"It's as still as a graveyard," Harry whispered when they had climbed the bluff by the mill long after midnight and were near the little village.

"They're all buried in sleep," said Abe. "We'll get Rutledge out of bed. He'll give us a shake-down somewhere."

His loud rap on the door of the tavern signalized more than a desire for rest in the weary travelers, for just then a cycle of their lives had ended.

AL SAYS A PIECE OF CARDBOARD MAKES A GOOD "WEATHERMAN"

[Handicraft for Boys]

Al had come over to Jim's house to visit for an hour or so that Friday evening. The two were up in Jim's garret den "talking things over."

"Want to know how to make a good dependable weather forecaster, Jim?" asked Al.

"Sure, Mike, I want to know how to make anything." Jim was of a mechanical turn of mind.

"Well, this thing is simple as the deuce to make. All you need to do is get a piece of white pasteboard about five or six inches square. Then go to the druggist and ask him to mix up a solution of one part cobalt chloride, ten parts gelatine and 100 parts water. He won't charge so very much—just a few cents.

"You soak the piece of cardboard in this stuff for a few minutes and then hang it up on a string run through a little hole you should punch in one corner, to dry. It's better to put this hole in the card before you soak it in the solution.

"Soon as it's dry, the weather forecaster is all ready to forecast. Just hang it up outside some place where the rain won't strike it."

"Yes, but how does that thing tell you what the weather's going to be?"

"Just what I was a-comin' to," replied Al. "See, now, when the weather's going to be unsettled the cardboard will be purple. When it's going to rain it will be light pink. And when it's going to be clear, the card will be sky blue."

"Well, say, that's pretty nifty, ain't it. But will it work all the time?"

"Oh, some times it won't forecast right—even the weather man can't always hit the nail on the head. But it's pretty dependable."

"Gee, I guess I'll make one tomorrow." And Jim did.

START NOVEL LETTER EXCHANGE IN SCHOOL

In Richmond, Ind., the boys and girls in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the public schools, under the direction of the instructor of penmanship, are exchanging letters with boys and girls in the public schools of far away cities.

The pupils of Richmond exchanged their first letters with pupils in Schenectady, N. Y. Other cities are to be added to the list.

The one thing necessary before a pupil can take part in this letter exchange is that he show a good "arm swing" in his penmanship.

Some of the letters received by Richmond pupils have been published in the "Junior Palladium," boys and girls section of the "Richmond Palladium," one of the city's newspapers.

"Sure, an' me'darlin', this is fine ice cream," praised the old washwoman as she eagerly devoured a big dish of strawberry ice cream and chocolate cake.

"Well, I'm just so glad you could come today, Mrs. O'Hallaran," replied Josephine, who was skipping quickly around the yard filling the plates of her guests as soon as they were emptied.

Josephine Shaw was a little girl who dearly loved ice cream and wanted to give it to others who could not afford to buy it. Every Saturday she had a party and invited all the poor mothers and children of the neighborhood.

Josephine Shaw Sewell became a great social worker. She was president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs which put through many reform laws in that state.

PARABLES OF SAFED THE SAGE

Knowing Too Well What Goeth Into the Soup-Kettle

I have a friend who owneth a Large Hotel. And he wrote an Epistle unto me, saying, When thou comest unto this Burg, let no man beguile thee of thy wealth. Come thou to mine Hotel, and eat that which is good, and it shall not cost thee One Red Cent.

Now I had occasion to visit that City, and he met me with an Automobile, and took me to his Hotel, and gave unto me a Swell Room with a Bath, and fed me with feasting. And we had a fine Breakfast, and a Lunch that was Some Lunch.

But when we came to Dinner, behold, he was weary. And we looked over the Bill of Fare, and nothing looked good unto him.

And I said, I will have a Planked Whitefish.

And he said, Nay; I have been trying to get a Chef who could plank an Whitefish as it should be done; try something else.

And I said, I will have Canvas-back Duck.

And he said, I saw those ducks when they came in, and they looked none too good to me; they were the best I could get, but I would try something else.

And thus he spake of everything I proposed.

And then he said, Come, let us get out of this mob. I know a nice little Chophouse. Let us run over there and get a good Beefsteak.

And I said, Not on thy life. There is no Chop-house that can put up such eats as I have here. I intend to eat this Whole Bill of Fare.

And he blessed me, and he said, Our food is good, and this is the best Hotel within a circle of Five Hundred Miles, and I know it. But I get so weary knowing what goes in to everything, and the process by which things are done, that I get tired.

And I said unto him, O, my friend, thou art not the only pebble on the beach. What thou sayest is true of all men when they come to know the seamy side of their own job.

And he said, It cannot be so with thee.

And I said, It is even so. I know too well what goeth into my homiletic Soup-kettle. And I know that when I roast people from the Pulpit it is often Overdone and Scorched.

And I said, Come, let us eat this Food, for it seemeth me this is One Good Square Meal.

And he said, You can just bet that meal you are eating is All Wool and a Yard Wide.

And it was Some Meal.

TAX PROBLEMS OCCUPY ATTENTION OF BADGER SOLONS DURING WEEK

MADISON, Wis.—Taxation problems continued to hold the center of interest in the legislature during the past week. The difficulty of raising additional revenue without, at the same time increasing the cost of government for any class of individuals, has been impressed on the legislators, many of whom are convinced that all new revenue measures should be defeated.

A statement from the floor of the assembly by Chairman W. H. Edwards of the taxation committee, that he would oppose any radical changes in the tax laws, is taken as an indication of the opinion that will prevail in his important committee. Reapportionment of the returns from the income tax is looked to by Mr. Edwards as one feasible means of giving the state more money.

This opposition to new departures in revenue raising measures was shown for the first time by the defeat of the Hanson bill to repeal the personal property offset to the income tax. Passage of the bill would bring $4,000,000 into the treasury, most of it going to the cities under the present system of distribution. Reconsideration has been scheduled for next Thursday when the measure will be disposed of for the rest of the session, according to its opponents.

An attempt was made to attach the Goodman bill raising exemptions under the income tax to the Hanson bill, but was declared out of order by Speaker Young. Both bills had been recommended for indefinite postponement. The Caldwell bill to reapportion returns from the income tax giving the state 40 per cent, counties 20 per cent, and cities 40 per cent, was laid over for consideration, until March 21.

The hand of the governor was shown directly during the week when the lower house voted to reconsider the Ingalls resolution providing for a special legislative committee to investigate taxation. Adoption of the resolution would mean that tax bills would be deferred to a special session or to the next regular session.

The Blaine forces set out to overcome the original victory gained by the opposition. The measure was saved for the time being by a vote to have it tabled. There may be difficulty in bringing it up for consideration again during the session.

While the assembly was wrestling with taxation, the governor and attorney general went to the nut over constitutionality of a veto. Interpretation of the word "adjournment" was at the basis of the differences between the two state officials. Attorney General William Morgan cited cases, the first in 1791, and the last in 1916, one of them a decision of the United States supreme court, upholding his contention that adjournment when used in reference to state legislatures meant final adjournment.

Governor Blaine's secretary cited a Connecticut case which, in his opinion, held that as a matter of practice in Connecticut adjournment could be taken for short intervals during the session. The senate has set Wednesday as the date when they will determine on their stand in the matter.

Reapportionment of the state will start during the next week, it is expected, as a result of the final passage by the assembly of a resolution to create a committee of 16 to carry out the redistricting work. The senate is counted on to accept the assembly proposal which increases the number on the committee as first suggested, from 5 to 15.

The northern counties of the state will probably be given two new senatorial and six new assembly districts when the changes are made on the basis of population. The Eleventh Congressional district will also be altered to take care of the increased population, it is believed.

There was scarcely any opposition to deficiency bills and to general appropriation bills when they were presented to the lower house for passage during the week. Over $1,000,000 was voted by the assembly without debate for the most part.

Chairman Oakes of the finance committee, who previously bore the brunt of all explanation called for by members, thanked the house for its action. The general feeling is that members are turning away from the policy of questioning the reasons for giving anybody money with which to operate their departments for the coming year, or to keep back funds to meet deficits incurred with cause during the past biennium.

Automobile legislation was either deferred or killed during the week. The Higgins bill requiring that drivers be licensed went down in defeat on the first vote, while two others licensing measures in the senate were laid over for later action.

The upper house on Friday upheld the governor in his veto of the rent bureau law in Milwaukee, after a special committee of the joint finance committee had conferred with the governor on the reasons for his action. One dissenting vote was cast by Senator Arnold.

Violin Superstitions

There is no musical instrument about which cling so many queer notions and superstitions as the violin. One of the strangest is that held by so many people that the tone of a violin is often improved by its being broken and then mended. It seems almost incredible, but that very idea is believed by thousands of people.

Hindus believe the Veda, a collection of religious writings, to be of divine inspiration.

The Screen

AT THE THEATERS TODAY

Rivoli—Charles Ray in "An Old-Fashioned Boy"; Mermaid comedy, "Nonsense." Topics of the Day, and the descriptive overture, "A Day With the Circus," by the Beyerstedts.

Majestic—Eugene O'Brien in "Broadway and Home," Kinograms and vaudeville—Standard Comedy Four and Jimmy Duffy, the Jolly Jester.

Riviera—Two acts of vaudeville; Frank Mayo in "Colorado"; comedy, "Wedding Blues."

Casino—All-star cast in "Two Kinds of Love"; serial, "Fighting Fate."

Strand—Bernard Durning and Pauline Stark in "Seeds of Vengeance"; serial, "King of the Circus."

"THE GLORIOUS LADY"

Olive Thomas' third Selznick picture, "The Glorious Lady," which is at the Rivoli theater Sunday, is a story which makes a strong mental appeal. And so perfectly has it been done—so beautiful the interior and exterior settings, that the appeal made to the eye is every bit as strong. One sees a perfect replica of an English mansion house, wherein every single detail indicates a perfect technical knowledge. One is treated to gorgeous exterior settings that seem redolent of the very atmosphere of Merrie England. One is treated to what seems one long succession of beautiful pictures, each one perfect and each one marked by that perfect ease so characteristic of anything that bears the Selznick imprint.

AT THE MAJESTIC SUNDAY

"Hoop, La" is the story of a circus orphan and the big hearted clown who was her guardian. The lure of the sawdust ring, the fascination of the side show and the thrill of the trapeze, are in the act. Billie Rhodes is the pert and chipper comedy star, a premiere equestrienne of a one ring circus. It is intensely human, funny in spots and an absorbingly interesting story. "Hoop, La" plays at the Majestic tomorrow, Sunday.

AT MAJESTIC TODAY

Eugene O'Brien as Michael Strange in the new Selznick picture, "Broadway and Home," goes through many mentally harrowing experiences in his desires to see life. He returns to his boyhood home a sadder but infinitely wiser man. What transpires in the interim between the start and return forms an intensely interesting and dramatic photoplay.

Alternate scenes of the rugged New England sea coast and the busy streets of Manhattan form the locale of the story, which is by John Lynch.

"Broadway and Home" is the feature attraction at the Majestic theater today.

VODVIL, PICTURES—RIVIERA

The vaudeville engagement for the week closes at the Riviera this evening. Virginia Hayden, contralto, and the Manila quartet, playing Hawaiian songs and musical selections are on the bill. The feature picture is Frank Mayo in "Colorado," and the comedy, "Wedding Blues." A thrilling rescue of a girl from a torrent of water which floods a mine is one of the big dramatic punches in "Colorado." The story was filmed from the famous stage play of the same name by Augustus Thomas.

"TWO KINDS OF LOVE"

Five thousand dollars worth of gold nuggets from the exhibits of the California bureau of mines were borrowed for use in "Two Kinds of Love," the Universal photodrama which shows for the last times today at the Casino. Because of the historical value of the ore, which came from the old gold-camp in San Gabriel Canyon, where the story was filmed, the Universal Film company put up a bond far in excess of the actual value of the nuggets to assure their safety.

"SEEDS OF VENGEANCE"

Bernard Durning, a two-fisted fighting star, scores effectively in "Seeds of Vengeance," by Margaret Prescott Montague, which closes its La Crosse run at the Strand today. Durning, as the central figure in a mountain feud, fights bad men all over the hills. The story concerns the carrying out of a vow of vengeance, and how two women, one the hero's mother, the other his sweetheart, fought to influence him in opposite courses.

ASK EXTENSION OF RENT REGULATION TO ENTIRE STATE

Urges Legislature to Make Provision for Milwaukee Bureau

MADISON, Wis. — Extension of rent regulation to all principal cities of the state is urged as a means of curbing extortionate landlords by Attorney General William Morgan. He feels that the legislature should make provision to save the Milwaukee rent bureau from the discard, and to provide for a similar state interference in other places.

"The rent law is the most progressive piece of legislation passed in Wisconsin in years," the attorney general declared. "It is our position that the law does not take property without compensation and for private use and does not impair the obligation of contract, but merely takes away the power of landlords to use their property rights oppressively."

Attorney General Morgan has taken his stand following action of the Milwaukee Sales and Investment company to restrain the railroad commission from using its funds for continuing the rent bureau.

"I am glad the matter comes up when the legislature is still in session," he said, "and there is an opportunity to protect the people by legislation. If we succeed in upholding the constitutionality of the rent law it would be too bad to have the law rendered impotent and powerless because no funds were available to carry it out."

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis.—No women will serve on the juries in circuit court for the next two years, the Chippewa county jury commissioners decided when they eliminated the names of six women from the poll list. HE TOOK DINAH'S WATCH AS "GIFT," THEN LEFT CITY

Harold Hubanks Brought Back from Winona to Answer Girl's Charges

When Dinah Johnson learned that Harold Hubanks, for some time employed in a restaurant here, with whom she had gone to shows on several occasions and to whom she had sent her pretty gold wrist watch as a token of friendship, had left the city without leaving a forwarding address or returning the watch, she immediately set about tracing him.

As a result Hubanks was arrested in Winona in an East Third street hotel at 9 a. m. Friday. After he had admitted having "hocked" the watch in La Crosse, the La Crosse authorities were notified and Friday afternoon Hubanks returned to this city accompanied by Sheriff Miller.

Police Work Fast

Thursday evening Chief of Police Webber notified the Winona department that Hubanks was wanted here for taking a lady's watch and that he had left La Crosse Thursday for some point along the Milwaukee road. The Winona police were given a general description of the man wanted and the combing of the city began. The Winona department believed that Hubanks might have gone to Red Wing or possibly the Twin Cities but Friday Chief H. C. Rieban found the young man and held him for the Wisconsin authorities.

Hubanks, who claims his home as Cassville, Wis., the police say, is 23 years old and a very presentable appearing young man. According to the Winona police, he told them that he had worked in La Crosse for some time and while there met Miss Johnson.

Made Hit With Girl

The girl, he said, the police state, evidently took a liking to him and after he had taken her out a few times, gave him her wrist watch, or at least he thought she gave it to him. When the time came that he tired of La Crosse, he said, he needed money to move on and sold the trinket to a Mr. Olson, who, he told the police, operates a shoe repair shop here. Olson gave him $14 for the watch, Hubanks stated.

DEPARTMENTAL

The students of the English IV classes have made many interesting articles for an Ivanhoe exhibit, such as dolls dressed to represent characters in the story, weapons which were used during that time, castles and drawings of the lists.

Three boys of the advanced cabinet-making class of the third and fourth periods are making two large sand boxes for the kindergarten.

The garage classes of the first, second, third and fourth periods have started to put Killian's Ford together. The car had been in the garage for a long time. The boys couldn't work on it at the beginning of the semester because they had to work on the car which was shown at the exhibition. The boys are anxious to finish fixing the Ford because of Leonard Killian's words: "Get her together, boys, and we'll all go out for a spin."

The money taken in at this sale, which will be put on by the girls of the millinery casses under the direction of Miss Cook, will be used for buying new subscriptions for magazines which the Home Economics department needs.

P. G'S GIVE FURNITURE FOR 108

From the money made by the plays given at Hokah, the Poka Gama Dramatic society has bought and presented to room 108 two large tables and a dozen chairs, thus making it more convenient for the students and teachers.

SOCIETY

The new Masquers, following a traditional custom, entertained the old members at a progressive breakfast Saturday morning. The first course was served at the home of Hilder Nustad the second at the home of Virginia Baker and the third at the home of Lucille Dusty. The party met at nine o'clock, and being fresh from their beauty sleep, the girls were in a merry mood. Chaperoned by Miss Green and Miss Heideman, they began their round of courses. The breakfast was delicious and the favors received were very amusing.

The second meeting of the French Club was held Friday morning, March 11, during the third period. The president called the meeting to order and short French anecdotes were given by Ruth Curtis. Dorothy Katz kept the audience laughing with her selection of witty jokes. The program was closed with a very interesting French-English dialogue between Virginia Baker and Idamae Bentley. The French Circle was selected as the name for the club.

Doris Niemeyer entertained a number of friends at a six o'clock dinner Sunday evening. The evening was spent in dancing and telling jokes. A solo dance was given by Shirley Kling.

STUDENT BURGLAR COULDN'T GET IN

A great disturbance was caused in room 215 the eighth period last Friday when one of the boys could not gain entrance to the room. He pleaded and called, but it was all in vain. The teacher would not allow anyone to open the window and let him in. So consequently he was marked absent. Poor boy! Or Yes. It was Gordon Kerr. He had jumped out of the window a few minutes before the bell rang when he and several other boys were looking out of the window. The boys closed the window and poor Gordon had to remain outside. Well, anyway, he had a nice walk on the top of the roof of the school. After thirty minutes of struggling, to the surprise of the students, he gained entrance by an unknown way.

RADIO CLUB

At the semi-annual election of the Radio Club the following officers were elected: President, John Esch; vice president, Robert White; secretary and treasurer, Stanley Bernet; regent, Sam Rowlby; censor, Robert Bartel; publicity manager, Albert Hirshheimer.

A little diversion from the usual procedure was furnished by members Bernet, Cohen, Skaar and Bittner in the form of several musical selections. In order to comply with the government regulations in regard to wave length, a new antennae has been erected on the roof of the high school by Mr. Protsman and several of the members. A station license will now be procured and the transmitting set will soon be in operation. Any traffic will be handled free of charge by the station and communication should be possible within a range of two hundred miles. A specially licensed operator will have charge of the station so that no interference will be caused.

DECORAH MAN FOUND DAZED IN AN ALLEY; FALL CAUSES DEATH

DECORAH, Iowa.—Found in an alley near the Grand Opera house in this city in a dazed condition and unable to tell how he came there or what caused his injuries, Lynn Shaw McEwen, bookkeeper for the Interstate Power company died after being taken to the Decorah general hospital. It is believed that a fall caused internal injuries. It was at first believed that foul play was at the bottom of his injuries but a post-mortem examination refuted this theory. McEwen was 26 years old and married. He was a son of James McEwen, of Postville, Iowa, and was employed in the latter's bank until coming to Decorah some time ago. Burial was made in Postville.

SOO ASKS U. S. FOR AUTHORITY TO BUY BADGER RAILROAD

WASHINGTON.—The Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie Railway company asked authority of the interstate commerce commission Saturday to purchase for $3,330,500 the Wisconsin and Northern railroad, 113 1-2 miles in length and described as a short line serving a district having heavy traffic but unable to provide a market on its own line for the product its originates.

"Traffic must therefore move out over connecting lines and is generally subject to the sum of two local rates" the application said. "This is a serious handicap and capital will not seek investment under such conditions."

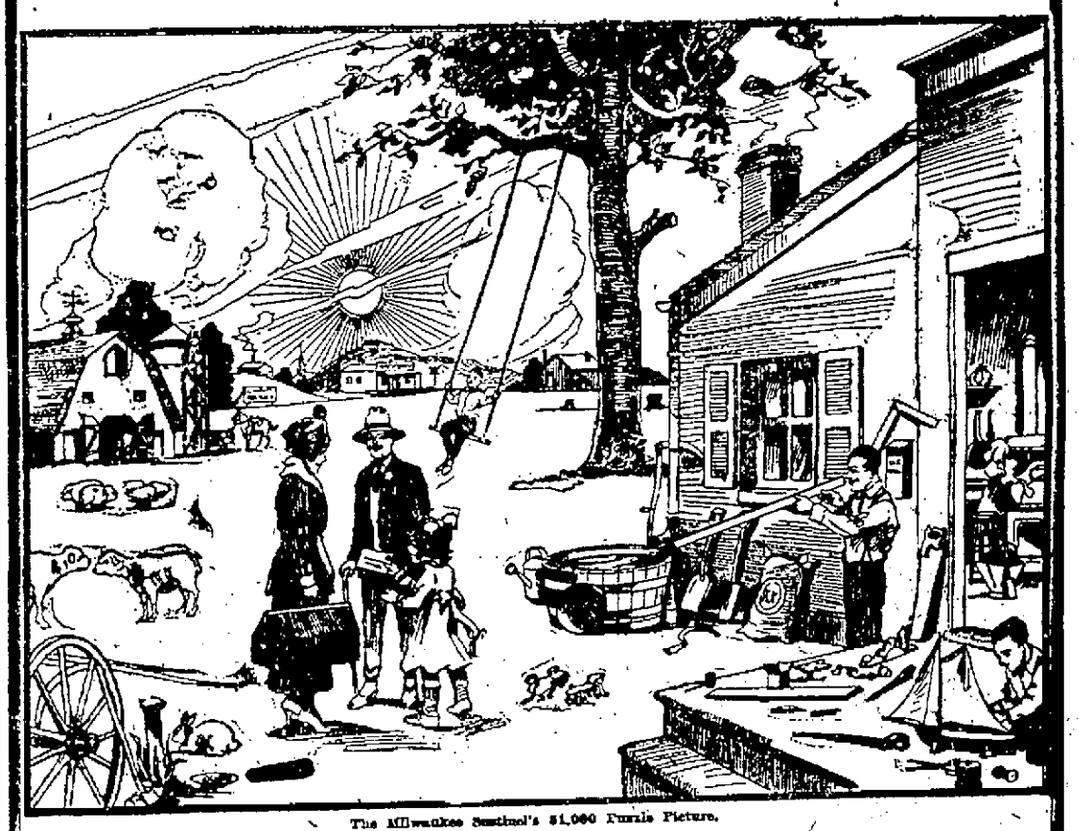

HEAVIEST SENTENCE IMPOSED IN HURLEY GOES TO MOONSHINER

HURLEY, Wis.—The heaviest sentence ever imposed by the court of Hurley was given to Bert Fowler of Saxon, Wis., by Judge Thomas in municipal court when he fined Fowler $500 and costs and sentenced him to ninety days in the county jail for having moonshine in his possession.

The Milwaukee Sentinel's
$1000 Puzzle Picture

The Milwaukee Sentinel's $1,000 Puzzle Picture.

A Jim Dandy Puzzle, Try It
Lots of fun for old and young.

It's everybody's game. Any school boy or girl can play it, and they'll make you older folks step lively. It is the greatest sport we know of, without an exception—many times more fun than the old fashioned spelling bee, which we used to enjoy so much. Try it. You'll find it interesting and fascinating. And, if you want to have a real lively evening tonight do this:—Right after the dishes are done gather all the members of your household together—grandpa, grandmother, father, mother, uncles and aunts and even little brother and sister, for everyone can play. Give each one a pencil, a sheet of paper and see who can find the most "S-Words" in The Sentinel's Puzzle Picture. We'll guarantee there'll not be a dull moment. Fun? My land, you'll never have more. Exciting! It will keep you setting right on the edge of your chair.

Additional copies of the Puzzle Picture will be mailed free on request.

How Many Names of Objects or Articles in This Picture Start With Letter "S"

The solution of the "S-word" Puzzle Picture depends only on your ability to find the list of names of visible objects and articles in this picture that begin with the letter "S". Fifteen cash prizes will be given for the 15 best answers to the Puzzle Picture. The answer having the nearest correct list of names will be awarded first prize. The second nearest correct list the second prize, etc. Sit down and see how many words beginning with the letter "S" you can find in the picture. Just as soon as you have made up your list, send it in. You can just as well get one of the prizes.

It costs nothing to take part in this Puzzle Picture game. It is not a subscription contest, and you do not have to send in a single subscription to win a prize. If your answer to the "S-Word" Puzzle Picture is awarded first prize by the judges you will win $20, but if you would like to win more than $20 we are making this special offer, whereby you can win bigger cash prizes by sending in one or two yearly subscriptions (maximum two subscriptions) to The Morning or Evening Sentinel by mail at $5 per year. They are our Bonus rewards for boosters.

YOU CAN WIN $1,000

Here's how: If your answer to the "S-Word" Puzzle Picture is awarded first prize by the judges and you have sent in ONE yearly subscription to The Milwaukee Morning or Evening Sentinel by mail at $5, you will receive $500 instead of $20.

Or if your answer to the "S-Word" Puzzle Picture is awarded first prize by the judges and you have sent in TWO yearly subscriptions to The Milwaukee Morning or Evening Sentinel, $10 in all, you will receive $1,000 in the place of $20.

How is that for a liberal offer? But look! We will give extra amounts on all prizes. If your answer is qualified by a $5 subscription to The Sentinel and you win second prize you will receive $250, and if you have sent in two yearly subscriptions and you win the second prize you will receive $500, and so on down the list of prizes.

It takes but two new or renewal subscriptions to qualify for the Big $1,000 Reward. ABSOLUTELY, two subscriptions is the maximum. You can do this with very little effort. Your own subscription will count, or subscriptions to start on some future date. Just write on the order when you want the paper started and it will start promptly on that date. However, in fairness to all subscriptions mailed prior to March 10, the opening day of the contest, cannot be counted toward qualifying for the Bonus Rewards and requests for credit in the Puzzle Picture Game must accompany each subscription.

OBSERVE THESE RULES:

1. Any man, woman or child in Wisconsin and Northern Michigan, living outside of Milwaukee and suburbs served by the Milwaukee Postoffice Carrier Service, who is not an employee of the Milwaukee Sentinel, may submit an answer. It costs nothing to try.

2. All answers must be mailed by your Postoffice closing time April 2, 1921, and addressed to E. D. Smith, Puzzle Manager, The Milwaukee Sentinel.

3. All lists of names should be written on one side of the paper only and numbered numerically. Write your full name and address on each page in the upper right hand corner. If you desire to write anything else, use a separate sheet.

4. Only such words as appear in the English Dictionary will be counted. Do not use obsolete words. Where the plural is used the singular can not be counted, and vice versa.

5. Words of the same spelling can be used only once, even though used to designate different objects or articles or parts of objects or articles. An object or article can be named only once.

6. Do not use hyphenated or compound words; this refers to all words formed by the combination of two or more complete English words.

7. The answer having the nearest correct list of names of visible objects and articles shown in the picture that begin with the letter "S" will be awarded First Prize, etc. Neatness, style or handwriting have no bearing upon deciding the winners.

8. More than one member of a family may compete, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household.

9. In the event of a tie for any prize offered, the full amount of such prize will be awarded to each tied participant.

10. Three Milwaukee Business or Professional men, having no connection with The Sentinel, will be selected to act as judges, and participants agree to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive.

11. All answers will receive the same consideration regardless of whether or not a subscription for The Sentinel is sent in.

12. The announcement of the prize winners and the correct list of words will be published in the April 10th issues of The Sentinel.

CHICAGO LANDMARK FALLS BEFORE THE HIGH RENT WAVE

Doubling of Rent Brings Closing of Hinky Dink's "Hangout for the Boys"

CHICAGO, Ill.—The high rent wave has wiped out another Chicago landmark, it was learned Saturday the "hangout for the boys," operated in the vicinity of Clark and Jackson streets for forty years by Alderman "Hinky Dink" Kenna.

"I'm paying $500 a month," said the alderman, "and the new tenant, a restaurant, I understand, is to pay $1,000. I probably would have stood for some increase but not the boost to a 'grand' (thousand dollars).

"Since prohibition went into effect I have been losing money every day but I had to have a hangout for the boys. I'm going to find some place not far away and open up a cigar store."

Alderman "Bath-House John" Coughlin, Kenna's co-boss of the First ward for many years, heard of the order to move May 1. "You should have taken my advice," Coughlin told Kenna, "and opened up a drug store. You and I could have cleaned up $50,000 or $100,000 since prohibition went into effect."

"Yes," said Kenna, "and maybe we'd be explaining it to Judge Landis. G'wan home before I call the police and have you tossed out."

DELEGATES OF YARDS UNIONS ON WAY TO CAPITAL CONFERENCE

CHICAGO, Ill.—The two representatives of the Union Packing-house employes accompanied by executives of nine other unions signatories to the war-time arbitration agreement in the packing industry are on their way to Washington to meet with representatives of the packers before Secretary Davis of the department of labor next Monday. Ballots of the employes at packing centers received up to today showed a vote of 44,799 to 618 in favor of a strike if the union leaders fail to obtain revision of the packers' recently instituted wage cut and return to the ten hour day before extra overtime pay.

YEOMEN RECEIVE 25 MORE APPLICATIONS FOR CLASS ADOPTION

At the regular meeting of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen Tuesday evening, twenty-five additional applications were presented for the class adoption to be held March 30.

It was also decided at this meeting that beginning with April all meetings would be held the first and third Thursdays of the month. Social doings will be held after each meeting and will be for members only. This will in one way interfere with the present Tuesday night dances which are held for Yeomen and their friends.

POLICE KEPT BUSY

CHICAGO, Ill.—A bandit was killed by a watchman, a home bombed and a woman killed in a mysterious explosion within an hour early Saturday.

About 4 o'clock the bandits attempted to break into the Leylow packing company offices and one was shot to death by Carey Mason, 54-year-old negro watchman. Within a few minutes a terrific explosion set fire to a house in another part of the city and when firemen entered they found the body of Mrs. Frances Schirmer, 65-year-old, stretched across a trunk. In the negro district a bomb injured two persons, shattered windows and otherwise damaged half a dozen residences.

Increase in U. S. Dyes

More than 63,000,000 pounds of dyes, valued at $67,000,000, were produced in the United States in 1919, the increase being about 8 per cent over 1918.

STATE IS MERELY "UMPIRE" IN SETTLING MARKETING PROBLEMS NORGORD DECLARES IN ADDRESS BEFORE SPARTA KIWANIS CLUB

SPARTA, Wis.—"The primary purpose and function of the state in marketing is not to take over and conduct business for the people as this would constitute an offensive paternalism and eventually might lead to graft," said Commissioner C. P. Norgord of the state department of agriculture in an address delivered here Friday before the Kiwanis club and the farmers of this vicinity.

"Business," he added, "belongs inviolably to the people, to the middlemen and federated farmers. The function of the state in marketing is that of a 'fair play umpire.' The state may foster, initiate and encourage good movements, aid farmers to cooperate in conducting their business; help farmers' associations to keep their business records and advise them on business methods, on the amount of capital needed and how to handle the capital and business wisely and effectively.

"A very important function of the state in this connection is in co-operation with the people and in accordance with the wishes of the federated farmers and business men, to fix standards and particularly to inspect the products that are shipped under such standards. Examples of successful standardization are shown by the western fruit growers who by the standardization of their fruits and by the rigid inspection systems are able to ship their products three thousand miles and more to the markets and compete with unstandardized products and uninspected products grown at the very doorway of these farms.

It was through standardizing that Danish butter, eggs and bacon won their place on English markets and made Danish agriculture prosperous.

"New Zealand standardized its dairy products as early as 1892. By her dairying acts of 1892, 1894 and 1898, as a direct consequence her dairying business has today increased thirty-fold her cheese business twenty-fold.

"An instance of effective standardizing is seen in American cheese standards in branding New York cheese. Recently a carload shipment of New York cheese came into Wisconsin, and when opened it was found that it came originally from Plymouth, Wis. Every cheese sold under the New York standard was a cheese produced at Plymouth.

"It is customary to sell Wisconsin tobacco as 'binders' at 34 cents shipped to Vermont and returned to Wisconsin as wrappers at $1.50. Wisconsin has already made great steps in the co-operative sales and storage of cheese through the Plymouth Federated Cheese company. This project has grown from a volume of 6,925,000 pounds in 1914 to 14,098,000 pounds in 1919. Its factories have increased from 45 in 1914 to 120 in 1919. During the past six years it has made a saving and profit to its patrons amounting to $155,000."

Mr. Norgord emphasized the advantage of encouraging large co-operative and private concerns in handling business on a large scale on small margins, and curbing monopolistic control of prices by effective government control thoroughly backed by enlightened public opinion.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

Jones Wins Honors

At the recent Shorthorn Cattle congress held in Chicago, Mr. Eben E. Jones of Rockland made a record that La Crosse county can well feel proud of. The Shorthorn congress is the greatest Shorthorn show in America; at that show competition is the strongest that can be found anywhere in the country.

Mr. Jones made the following winnings:

First on senior yearling heifer (Roan Goods).

Grand champion of the show on Roan Goods. (Roan Goods was 23 months old when shown).

First on bull and two females.

First on best six head at the show, owned by one consignment.

Second on yearling heifer, Hillshade Violet, in a class of sixty-four different entries.

Second on junior yearling heifer, Hillshade Clarent, in class of 57 entries.

Second on get of sire, Collynie Sultan.

Fifth on best pair any age, shown by one breeder.

Eighth on bull calf, with twenty-five animals entered.

Twelfth on Hillshade Gloster (Jr. heifer calf) in class of 75.

Many will recall that last year Mr. Jones won first on best bull and three females.

South American buyers were present to purchase a herd of eight animals selected to be shown at the leading shows in Uruguay and Argentine. Mr. Jones sold four heifers, which averaged $882, one of these going to Argentine Republic and the other two to Uruguay.

Word was received a few days ago from Mr. Frederick Cranefield, secretary of the State Horticultural society, that at a recent meeting of the board of managers of the State Horticultural society our county (La Crosse county) was selected as one of five in which will be located one of the new small fruit demonstration plots.

This demonstration will consist of one acre located on one of the main roads, where it will be seen by a large number of people, to do the most possible good. We are especially glad to receive this at this time when we are just starting out with a vigorous horticultural campaign.

La Crosse county has the soil, the climatic condition, and why not make our small fruit patches and orchards do well, as many of those just across the river at La Crescent. Through hearty co-operation with the State Horticultural society and our local societies we hope to do much in the way of better horticulture.

* * * *

The series of meetings which was held in the county during the past two weeks were a grand success considered from a standpoint of attendance. A total of over 2,000 people from the rural districts were in attendance at these meetings.

Mrs. Nellie Keidzie Jones in four days spoke to between 1250 and 1300 people.

* * * *

All of the county associations are taking a very active interest in their particular lines of work. This includes all the livestock associations, horticultural association and the farm bureau.

* * * *

The towns of Shelby, Bangor and Burns have completed their permanent township units of the county farm bureau. The county farm bureau formed its permanent organization at West Salem, Wednesday, March 16.

* * * *

Several new barns are to be built this spring. William Gilster at Campbell has begun taking down his old barn and the new one will be started at once.

Too Much

Landlady: "Help yourself to the meat, Mr. Grant. Don't be afraid of it."

Grant (a new boarder): "I'm not afraid of it. I've seen twice as much meat as that, and it never frightened me a bit."—Country Life.

Financially Safe

"Want to be a musician, do you? Then I advise you to take up either the bagpipes or the violin."

"Why so, father?"

"Because when there's any paying to be done, I notice it's the piper and the fiddler who are preferred creditors."—Boston Transcript.

SCHOOLBOYS' COURT ORGANIZED TO TRY SCHOOL OFFENDERS

Dore School in Turbulent 19th Ward of Chicago Has Plan to Curb Lawnessness

CHICAGO, Ill.—Schoolboys in the Dore school in the Nineteenth ward, scene of frequent shootings ascribed to a political feud, have formed a court to curb truancy and lawlessness among themselves and received their first lesson in court conduct Friday from Municipal Judge Charles A. Williams.

Frank Laino, 12 elected "judge" of the Boys' court, watched Judge Williams hold two boys, charged with stealing, for further examination, and appoint a lawyer to defend them.

"What punishment would you mete out?" asked Judge Williams.

"Well, first I'll give them a chance and appoint a lawyer to defend them," said Frank, Prosecuting Attorney Willie Palermo, aged 14, Bailiff Joe Demarco, 12 and Clerk Joe Muscato are Frank's assistants.

"If the want a jury trial," Frank said, "they'll get it. But if they're guilty they've got to make good. If they've stolen they'll have to pay back the money they took. The kids that 'bum' from school I'll put on probation and see that they make up the times."

Miss Nora Doran, principal of the school, originated the plan for the court.

"I believe children can govern themselves better than men could," she said. "The responsibility placed in them is the greatest assurance that the plan will succeed."

SPECIAL SERVICES IN HOLY WEEK AT METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. W. T. Walker of Onalaska Will Hold Nightly Services all Week

The week night services held last week at First Methodist church will be continued during Holy Week. Increasing audiences heard the Rev. A. M. Harkness of Eau Claire all last week.

Next week the Rev. W. T. Walker of Onalaska will preach every night at 7:30, except Friday when the choir will give the Good Friday concert using again Dubois' splendid composition, "The Seven Last Words of Christ." A cordial invitation is extended to the public for all these services.

DRIVE ON DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS WILL BE STARTED NEXT WEEK

Preparations were made today by Milwaukee internal revenue officials for a drive on delinquent federal taxpayers. The drive, which will start Monday, will continue for three weeks, it is said. Special agents will assist in the roundup.

Books of corporations will be checked up where it is believed reports of incomes have not been accurate. Individuals, whose names appear on the returns of corporations as receiving taxable incomes but who have not filed returns, will be visited.

Penalties and assessments will be made against persons and corporations who have failed to file returns and prosecutions started if the delinquency was caused by intent to defraud the government.

GERMAN CHARGED WITH PLANNING COUP IN SILESIA

Claimed to be at Head of Organization to Uphold Germany's Claims

OPPELN, Upper Silesia.—By The Associated Press.—Captain Lench, an adherent of Dr. Wolfgang Kapp during the short-lived revolution in Berlin last March, and who was head of the press section of the foreign office during Dr. Kapp's regime, was arrested Friday by Italian occupation troops. It was alleged he was at the head of a military organization aiming to uphold German claims in Silesia by force, if necessary, should the plebiscite on Sunday go in favor of the Poles. He was released on offering to procure proof that he was a reporter for a German newspaper.

Reports from Gleiwitz said two Poles had been shot and killed by plebiscite police while urging interference with the plebiscite in favor of Poland.

There are approximately 30,000 allied troops and a large number of German and Polish police on duty in the plebiscite area.

2 NEW PROJECTION MACHINES AT CASINO DISPLAYED IN LOBBY

Two new Simplex projection machines that will be installed in the Casino theater on Monday, are now on exhibition in the lobby of the theater. The machines have just been bought by A. J. Cooper, manager of the theater, and will replace older carbon lighted machines. Besides being the "last word" in construction, these new Simplex outfits are equipped with Mazda lights, instead of carbons, thus insuring a steady light on the screen at all times, eliminating the flicker and dark edges and giving an almost perfect picture. These machines also are designed to stand the stress and strain that would be put on apparatus that is in continuous use for 12 hours in a "continuous show house" such as the Casino is. The use of Mazda light in the machines are said to absolutely eliminate fire risk in operating booth.

STOP SALE OF FORD PAPER IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Martin O'Brien, chief of police, Saturday ordered the arrest of all persons crying "The sale on the streets" of Henry Ford's publication, "The Dearborn Independent," because of the anti-Semitic campaign being conducted by that newspaper.

The order did not refer to sales of the newspaper at News-stands or to door-to-door sales. It followed an opinion by Charles Dawes, city counsellor, holding that "crying the sale on the streets" of the publication constituted a law violation.

OSHKOSH IS FIRST IN NORMAL CONTEST HELD AT PLATTEVILLE

La Crosse Dancers and Glee Club Score Well at Gathering Friday Night

The La Crosse Normal failed to place in the annual oratorical contest held this year at Platteville Normal, the places were awarded as follows: The places were awarded as follows: Frank A. Butler, Oshkosh, first. His subject was the "Soul of America." Morris Kaion of Superior was second. Kaion is a Russian Jew, who spoke on "America's Response." Third place went to Arthur Thorson of Eau Claire, who spoke on "Freedom's Charge." L. G. Williams of Platteville took fourth place with his oration, "Man to Man."

The four best orations were the only ones considered by the judges, and though La Crosse was unable to take one of these places the work of the athletic dancers and the Men's Glee club who accompanied the orator, made a very favorable impression when they appeared on the program which preceded the orations.

La Crosse was represented in the contest by Mr. Otto Herbert, who had as the subject of his oration "The League of Nations."

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO DRUNKARDS' FRIEND AT GOTHAM MISSION

NEW YORK.—The body of J. H. Wyburn, "the drunkard's friend," was expected to be brought back Saturday from Clifton Springs, to lie in state in the famous old Jerry McAuley mission over which he presided for fifteen years. Mr. Wyburn died last Thursday on his 62nd birthday.

Hundreds of "ex-ranks," whom Wyburn helped back to sobriety, many of them now prosperous business men, are expected to visit the dingy little mission in Water steet and pay final tribute to their friend.

Himself an "ex-tank" as he himself expressed it, Wyburn achieved marked success in his work at the mission, where he earlier had been "plucked like a brand from the burning" by another reformed drunkard, the late S. H. Hadley.

SETS RADIO RECORD

NEW YORK.—A world record for receiving radio messages—48 5-5 words a minute, with two typographical errors, was established here Friday night by B. G. Soutter, an operator employed by the New York Times. Soutter was victor in a receiving test held by the second district amateur radio convention.

The former record, 47 words a minute with three errors, was held by Tony Gerbart of San Francisco, a commercial operator.

CARL OLSON QUITS ALDERMANIC RACE IN SECOND WARD

Field is Left Clear for John Voigt, Incumbent, Who Seeks Re-election

Carl Olson, candidate for common council seat in the Second ward, today announced his withdrawal from the primary contest.

John Voigt, incumbent, who is seeking re-election will be without opposition at the primaries next Tuesday as Olson was his only opponent.

Olson is considering returning to the stage. He has been on the vaudeville stage before with a monolog. He says he has a new act with new "business" and has been offered a contract with a western vaudeville circuit that "I wouldn't let them off that easy."

NATIONAL GUARD TO HAVE A CONTEST WITH THE RIFLE

During the week of April 10-16, all members of Wisconsin National Guard organizations, equipped with the gallery rifle, will fire a record course at home to qualify for places in the state gallery match to be held in May. Men may fire for practice as often as they desire up to April 16, but as soon as a man declares himself as firing for record, his practice will cease.

Orders issued from the adjutant general's office designate four teams for the state match. They will be picked from the 16 teams having the highest scores in organizations representing the 127th infantry, 128th infantry, cavalry and all other organizations equipped with the gallery rifle.

The gallery practice season has been extended from March 31 to April 16. On that date all score books will be sent to the adjutant general and the award of the gallery trophy and certificates to the three high companies will be made, the award being based on the highest merit for the season.

For one thing, she married Robert Gareth - Lawless which meant entertaining and living on the "right side of the street." Overnight she was left penniless—and incredibly helpless. No girl was ever so hopelessly helpless as Feather. It made her charming but it caused all kinds of trouble, especially to the Marquis, the head of the House of Coombe. Why not read it tonight—in—

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Big Spring Demand Is Here

The demand for Ford cars this spring promises to be as big, if not bigger, than ever before. This, and the fact that production of Ford cars was curtailed for a time, will undoubtedly create a shortage—in fact there is a scarcity of certain models at this time.

Hence, your Ford should be ordered now. Whatever you do don't change your mind—get a Ford, even though you may not be able to get immediate delivery.

MARKET STRENGTHENS

Week-end Covering by Shorts Boosts Quotations in Saturday Trading

NEW YORK—Week-end covering of short contracts injected a degree of strength to the stock market Saturday. Oils, motors, independent steels and food and chemical specialties rose 1 to 3 points. General Asphalt, Studebaker, Republic Iron, American Sugar, American Woolen and Hide and Leather preferred were most prominent. Among the heavy issues were Atlantic Gulf, Utah Copper, New Haven and Pennsylvania but rails for the most part were neglected. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 350,000 shares.

Leading stocks registered nominal gains and losses at the hesitant opening of the session but within the first half hour reactionary tendencies became more marked. Mexican Petroleum forfeited a large fraction. Atlantic Gulf fell one point and International Agricultural preferred lost 1¾. The prominent motors and their specialties also eased moderately. Among the few advances were Pennsylvania, Houston Oil and Allied Chemical.

WHEAT MARKET BEARISH

Market rather Weak and Easily Influenced at Week-end Session

CHICAGO, Ill.—Forecasts for rains and favorable weather for the crop, combined with a relatively slow demand for the cash article, offset reports of green bug infestation in the southwest and were responsible for a generally very bearish sentiment in wheat Saturday. Commission houses were rather general sellers but the buying was scattered and mostly on resting orders. There was some covering in evidence in the way of evening up for over Sunday. The market started weak but was easily influenced and rallied quickly. Opening quotations which were ½ to 1½c lower with March $1.54 and May $1.44 to $1.45 were followed by further declines and then a moderate advance.

The rallies in wheat were very feeble. Liquidation set in with support lacking and a heavy undertone soon developed. The close was weak 2¼ to 3¼c lower with March $1.52 to $1.52¼ and May $1.42¼.

Corn reflected the action in wheat, the trade being light. After starting unchanged to ⅛c lower with May 67 to ⅛ the market rallied slightly and held within a narrow range.

Corn broke with wheat but buying against bids checked the declines. The close was nervous, ½ to ⅝c to 1c lower with May 66⅝ to ¾c.

Oats were in sympathy with other cereals starting unchanged to ⅛c lower with May 41¼ to ⅜c and hovering about that figure.

Provisions were dull but higher with hogs and on small receipts.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—Here is Wisconsin's highway construction record since 1911 when the legislature enacted the first state aid law. The construction began in 1912 in which year 466 miles of road were built at a cost of $950,000. There was a steady increase until in 1914 there were built 1,290 miles of road at a cost of $4,000,000. The war then interposed—construction was reduced until in 1918 only 667 miles of road were built (about half the product of 1914), at a cost of $3,100,000. Nineteen eighteen saw the beginning of the policy of patrol maintenance. In 1920 the war conditions were to some extent overpassed, but the general scale of prices was still high and the program was restricted on account of all these matters. We built last year less concrete road than we built the year before by about fifty miles, but the product in new roads in 1920 was about 1,560 miles, built at a cost of $8,500,000. The maintenance expenditures, state and county, were $3,200,000. Therefore, about $11,700,000 was expended for federal, state and county construction and maintenance in 1920, exclusive of supervision and miscellaneous expenditures. During the nine years from 1912 to 1920, inclusive, there was built 9,411 miles of road and 1,724 bridges at a total cost of $36,750,000. There was expended in maintenance $7,605,000. The total highway expenditures in Wisconsin from 1912 to 1920, inclusive, for federal, state and county aid construction, maintenance, supervision, machinery and miscellaneous were probably $52,000,000.

* * * *

The governor is closely studying the situation, the joint committee on finance of the legislature is sitting up nights, and every department of the state is sweating blood in the effort to keep down expenditures and taxes. But in spite of all this, it is reasonably plain to every one that the expenditures for the coming biennium will be at least three million dollars in excess of those of the biennium which will close June 30, 1921, which means they will be six millions in excess of the direct appropriations for that time. If this six millions were added to the total property tax of the state of $96,000,000 for 1920, as shown by Governor Blaine in his special message, and none of it raised by increasing the income tax rate, each property owner's tax would be about 6 per cent higher than the tax he paid this year.

* * * *

The state department of agriculture through its entomologist, Dr. Fracker, and one of its inspectors, C. D. Adams, has brought about the arrest of some agents for nursery stocks who have been selling plants and shrubs that outdo the Burbank stories. Among other things these imaginative agents have been taking orders for were "strawberry trees" on whose branches, in the colored prints shown, luscious strawberries hung blue and ever-blooming peonies, fall-flowering purple lilacs, and hardy tea-roses. On the east side of Milwaukee thousands of dollars in orders were taken, and many were delivered and paid for, before the agent was apprehended.

* * * *

The sensational episode in legislative work this week was the action of the senate in refusing to support Governor Blaine's veto of the rent bureau bill. The legislature, after once killing the rent bill, revived it and passed it appropriating $10,000 to carry on the work of the bureau, which is trying to prevent extortionate rents in Milwaukee. The work was in charge of the railroad commission, and the governor made his veto message the vehicle for what was considered by the senate to be a very unjust attack upon the railroad commission. Thursday morning when the veto came up for consideration, Senator Skogmo started action by asserting he could not approve the attack on the commission, hence could not vote to uphold the veto. After a lively debate the senate, by a vote of 22 to 5, re-referred the bill to the joint committee on finance.

* * * *

At the marketing conference held in Madison last month, the committee on state marketing suggested state organization for co-operative marketing of potatoes. To determine the feasibility of such an organization, a hearing will be held at Rice Lake at 10 a. m. of March 24th, and at Stevens Point at 10 a. m. of March 25th. Everyone interested in the production of potatoes for commercial purposes is invited to attend one of the meetings.

* * * *

The state marketing division which has hitherto published an exchange list in connection with their news letter is about to issue a special bi-weekly exchange bulletin, which will be carried on in connection with the county agents. When a farmer has any product to sell or exchange he can list it with his county agent, who will see to it that it gets into the exchange list. When there is no county agent, any farmer can send his listing direct to the marketing division at Madison.

* * * *

Cabbage is one of the farm products which experienced a big drop within a year. Last year the difference between fall and spring prices ranged from $50 to $90 per ton. This year the last of the shipments cost from $4 to $5 per ton to store, brought from $8 to $15 per ton.

* * * *

The probability now is that the tax problem which has been looming big in the legislature and has brought the introduction of three income surtax bills will be turned over to a legislative committee that will report a year hence at a special session of the legislature. Assemblyman Ingalls' resolution to this effect has passed the assembly, and it is understood is favorably considered by the senators.

* * * *

Reference was made in this correspondence last week to the widespread misunderstanding about what portion of their property tax owners of property pay toward the expenses of the state government. In the past ten years, only once have taxpayers had to contribute anything toward meeting the expenses of government at Madison. The salaries and all the expenses of maintaining the various departments and state institutions are paid mostly out of fees from corporations like railroads. Some commissions not only support themselves, that is, collect in fees what they pay out, but turn into the state treasury many thousands of dollars besides. The conservation commission and the insurance department are among the self-supporting ones.

* * * *

The state conservation commission last fall succeeded in gathering 29,000,000 lake trout eggs. These are now beginning to hatch and in a few weeks the fry will be planted in Green Bay, Lake Michigan and Lake Superior. In view of the fact that commercial trout fishing in Lake Michigan and Lake Superior is now more profitable than at any time in the past twenty-five years, the conservation commission feels confident that its planting is yielding fruit.

* * * *

There are six hundred applications on hand at the present time in the state department of agriculture, signed by breeders of the state, desiring to have their herds placed under state-federal supervision. Dr. J. S. Healy, in charge of the work, reports that on the first of March there were six hundred accredited herds containing 15,066 cattle. This was a gain of 76 herds for the month of February. During this month 239 herds were tested which was the largest number of herds during any month since the inception of the work. Wisconsin has 915 herds containing 22,959 cattle which have passed the first clean test towards accreditation. There are 1,835 herds containing 48,719 cattle under supervision.

* * * *

The tax commission has been compiling some figures to ascertain the average proportion of the general property tax collected for state purposes, and for other purposes, for the year 1920. The total amount collected in the state was $95,018,000, of which 8.12 per cent was for state purposes (that is, for schools, normal schools and university, none of it being for administrative expenses) 21.29 per cent for county, 38.44 per cent for local needs and 32.05 per cent for schools.

* * * *

Senator Roethe will undoubtedly be given the chairmanship of the legislative committee to investigate the different administrative commissions and boards, to determine whether any can be abolished. This is in accordance with the governor's suggestion in his message. Roethe introduced the investigation resolution, and he was named first by Lieut. Gov. Commings and Senator Severson second. Senator Roethe is rather radical in his views when the question of public economy is up, but he has always been considered very level headed and will not be carried off his feet.

ILLINOIS EXPECTED TO REPEAT TRIUMPH OF '20 TRACK MEET

Wolverines Despite Absence of Walker are Regarded as Rival for First Honors

WISCONSIN ENTERS MEET HANDICAPPED IN DASHES

Sundt is Badger's One Hope for Honors in Shotput

CHICAGO, Ill.—With a well-balanced team the University of Illinois is expected to repeat its triumph of a year ago in winning the indoor track and field championships of the western conference at Northwestern university tonight. Every university in the Big Ten will be represented by teams or individual athletes.

The swimming championships were decided last night the University of Chicago carrying off the honors, Minnesota second and University of Illinois third.

Harry Gill, the veteran track coach at Illinois has entered a promising squad of distance runners.

Wolverines Rival

Michigan, although robbed of the services of Walker, a star high jumper, is regarded as Illinois' rival for first honors. Wisconsin and Minnesota, however, are expected to make a formidable showing.

Wisconsin enters the meet handicapped in the dashes, but with a strong string of distance men and representatives in the field events. The Badger performance in defeating by big margins both Northwestern and Notre Dame, classed them in the running.

Two Badger Men Out

With Spetz out of the dashes and 440-yard run on account of ineligibility, Wisconsin loses two practically assured first place and must depend on Knollin, who is inexperienced for the dashes and Johnson, a new man, for the 440.

Knollin is counted for one of the leading positions in the high hurdles.

The half mile will be run by Nash, one of the leading contenders in the conference last year while Wall and Brothers will again represent the Badgers in the one mile.

Sundt at Shotput.

Merrick or Wilder is counted on for first place in the pole vault. Sundt is the Badger's one hope in the shotput and if he repeats his work of last year will fall into second place.

Absence of veterans from the Minnesota squad is expected to show to the detriment of the Gophers.

In the preliminary heats last night in the 440 and 880-yard runs the men of the universities of Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois were the only ones to qualify for the meets tonight. Illinois men won first place in 880-yard heats.

TREATY PLEBISCITE IN SILESIA REGION TO BE HELD SUNDAY

BERLIN.—By The Associated Press.—The inter-allied plebiscite commission has ordered a suspension of telegraphic and telephonic communication with Upper Silesia from Saturday to Monday. A plebiscite will be held in Upper Silesia Sunday to determine whether Poland or Germany shall have sovereignty over the district.

Press telegrams are exempted from the commission's order, but will be subject to censorship.

HIGHS TRIUMPH IN GAME WITH ALUMNI ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Final Game Before State Tournament Results in 46 to 10 Victory for High School

In the last game for the locals before the state tournament at Madison, the La Crosse high aggregation triumphed over a squad of Alumni captained by "Satch" Crider by the score of 46-10. Despite the high score piled up against the "grads," the game was fast and furious. Poor passing and slow guarding kept the Red and Black team from piling up a bigger score, for the Alumni failed repeatedly in their attempts at long shots.

Vondrashek was the individual point getter for the high school squad, but Hargett and Gautsch followed closely in the honors. The guarding of Feinberg Capt. Zoerb and Moran, though not quite up to the standard set at the tournament was fair on the whole, and though Crider and Sullivan broke through at times, they were always interrupted as they shot.

Crider was the mainstay of the Alumni team, scoring 7 of the 10 points chalked up by the losers; Sullivan and Hanson also showed up well.

In the preliminary contest, the Midgets defeated the Mercuries by the close score of 12 to 10. This is the fifth game played between these two fast teams. Twice they have tied, one defeat apiece and now the Midgets have kept the bacon home.

Summary:

Goals: Vondrashek 7; Hargett, 3; Gautsch, 4; Zoerb, 2; Feinberg, 1; Crider, 3; Hanson, 1.

Free Throws: Vondrashek, 7; Crider, 2; Gautsch, 1.

Lineup: High school—Zoerb, Feinber, and Moran guards; Vondrashek, Gautsch and Reay forwards; Stokke, Hargett center.

Alumni: Crider, Nyhus forwards; Hanson, center; Sullivan, Renner, Peterson, Lord guards.

Lineup:

Midgets: Kaeppler, Bigley, forwards; Reget center; Collins and Dugan, guards.

Mercuries: Rvndal, Sletten, forwards; Hinds, center; Ratz, Temte, Plueck, guards.

CONGOS WIN EASY VICTORY OVER THE WEST AVENUE TEAM

In the events of the church athletic league at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night, the undefeated Congregational basketball team won a 50 to 12 victory over the West Avenue tossers. The absence of the regular lineup of the West Avenue team contributed to the overwhelming defeat handed out by the congregationalist quintet, who scored practically at will throughout the entire game.

The second contest scheduled between the First Methodists and the Caledonia Street Methodists was postponed until a later date.

JUDGE BACKS WATER ON STATEMENT THAT BLONDES ARE FICKLE

NEW YORK—Municipal Court Justice William Morris, whose recent ruling that blonde women were "too fickle" for jury service, raised the ire of blondes of this and other cities, let it become known diplomatically Friday that he, himself, is a former blonde—and that he had been married to a blonde for forty years.

"But what male is so callous as not to engage in tactful flattery when three pretty brunettes save the day," he said.

"That case might have been postponed again had not three young brunettes responded to the call for volunteer talesswomen to fill the panel.

"Blondes fickle? Why, my boy, they're an excellent race—blondes."

RESIGNATION OF LAW PRECIPITATES CRISIS SAYS LONDON PAPER

LONDON—A political crisis of the first magnitude has been created by the retirement of A. Bonar Law from the Britis cabinet, it is declared by the London Times. Other newspapers while less emphatic, agreed in saying that Mr. Bonar Law's resignation is certain to have considerable political effect, and that it probably will materially weaken the coalition government. It is pointed out that no successor to Mr. Bonar Law is likely to work so well with Prime Minister Lloyd George and the Graphic even suggests that if Mr. Lloyd George is called upon to face a prospect of unsympathetic association, he may find the strain of office intolerable, and will follow Mr. Bonar Law into retirement.

"SOME CAR"

is truly a slang expression. Still, very forceful. Only two words, and yet they seem to convey the following:

A car pleasing to the minutest detail in appearance, with a body containing new comforts and a chassis that is well balanced and properly assembled; a car with a marked individuality instantly creating the desire to own.

It pleases us therefore, when those who see the 1921 Mitchell exclaim, "Some car."
